

ARROW Communications Association, Inc.

Membership Application

Membership in the ARROW Communications Association is open to anyone with an interest in Amateur Radio, whether licensed or not. There are four types of membership available.

A FULL member must hold a valid FCC Amateur Radio license (any class) and has all the privileges of ARROW membership.

If more than one licensed member of a family living in the same household wishes to join, FAMILY memberships are available for each additional family member. Family members have the same privileges as full members.

A STUDENT membership is available for anyone currently enrolled in any recognized educational institution.

Unlicensed persons interested in Amateur Radio may become ASSOCIATE members who may not vote or hold office, but may participate in all other ARROW activities.
